Marriage, by contrast, is an institution of close complementary cooperation. It's success or failure depends on couples ability to work as a TEAM. In fact, our unconcious mind guides us to relationships that replicate childhood expereinces. At the same time, our unconcious mind will protect us from any danger, both past and present. The mind does this by putting up walls that will protect us from Anger, Hurt and Pain. This is in order to help us feel safe and cared for. The little child in us will try and come out in order to be healed.
